Weather&Nature

Weather:

New Zealand has a climate that's from 10° in the south to 16° in the north. The maximum temperature is 42° and the minimal -25°. In the South Island it is also very wet as opposed from the north Island where it is subtropical temperature. The snow season is about early June until early October in the South Island and it is less common on the North Island.

Nature:

New Zealand has the most amazing weather and even more beautiful forests. New Zealand has a huge amount of amazing waterfalls and incredible mountains! After only 1000 years of human settlement New Zealand has lost many native species. But New Zealand still has a lot of wonderful animals and the animals are being protected and are taken great care of! New Zealand is a land of unique birds. The best known is the flightless kiwi, one of the most famous birds of New Zealand. But New Zealand has amazing weather and the nature is amazing. That is one of the many things that makes New Zealand so special

TOERISM GUIDE

History

New Zealand is a relatively young country and still has an amazing history. A walk around New Zealand today shows what a fascinating country it has become. There were a lot of immigrants in the history of New Zealand. Because a lot of people wanted to settle there. New Zealand was a rich and amazing country. Even though it still is, it was way more impressive than it is now. Even though a Dutchman was the first to have seen the land, the British colonised New Zealand. A lot has happened in the history of this amazing country. But one thing is sure: New Zealand has a fascinating and rich history.
